Melton Mowbray - Rural Capital of Food

Stilton, the 'King of English Cheese', was made in and around Melton Mowbray during the 18th Century. Protected under European Law and by a Certification Trade Mark, Stilton can only be made in the three counties of Leicestershire, Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire.

Represented by the Stilton Cheesemakers' Association, only five dairies are licensed to make blue Stilton:

Colston Bassett Dairy

Cropwell Bishop

Long Clawson Dairy

Tuxford & Tebbutt Creamery

Websters Dairy

Stilton has a slightly open texture with its magical blue veins radiating from the centre of the cheese. It freezes well, melts and crumbles easily. The versatility, creamy background and unique flavour of Stilton make it ideal on its own or in a whole range of different recipes.
